ARTIST STATEMENT

A glimmer of light in darkness, random masses coalescing into pattern, a ragged shoreline between the familiar and the formless: this is the territory Nan Runde explores in her drawings and paintings. With a visual vocabulary derived from the natural world, she strives to embody the way of nature in her own creative process, letting images evolve from within. Her work invites the viewer to enter that process.

Fog and darkness speak to the human experience of incoherence and the reality of chaos in our world—but in every sphere of life they are a necessary part of a natural continuum. In Nan Runde's art, they challenge the viewer to look more closely, to look beyond the obvious to what is only barely discernible, to what is just beginning to emerge.
